Does anyone have a personal connection to our Chief of Police, Mr. Jeff Beazizo? I have sent an email to the general box listed on the website. I would like to give him the opportunity to sit down with me to discuss something several of his officers grossly mishandled that is centered around a very sensitive topic prevelant in our society. I am hopeful my story can help with training, which will lead to saving lives. Not out for blood, focusing on reform and justice for those who have been silenced before me. This is one of the many benefits to living in a small town. Thank you ❤️❤️

I have to say that I am so sorry to hear that so many people have had such negative experiences with LSPD. I have only had one interaction with them, when my best friend died suddenly three years ago. Officer Schedler was the responding officer and our experience with him could not have been better. She passed right before Christmas. He arranged presents and a Christmas tree for my friends 5 yo daughter, and a Christmas party with donated gifts and Santa for our whole neighborhood. I know there are bad cops out there, and it makes me so sad that people who need help, people in crisis have to roll the dice and see what kind of officer they will get when they call the cops. It should not be this way. We need to somehow either retrain, or let go, of the bad apples. I know it is a tough job, but if you are no longer in it to help people who need help, then move over for those who wish to do good.

Jennifer Matias this is amazing. Everyone deserves this interaction could you imagine going through what you did and having an officer who was the exact opposite? I am PRO public safety. My son just got home from deployment. I would be mortified if he acted the way in which these officers did.

A quick update.

Mr Miner has been in contact with me so whoever forwarded this to him, THANK YOU. In addition to his email I have received a bunch of personal messages from women who have had similar issues with the same officers. It breaks my heart to hear this. I plan on creating a group and allowing us to get together to speak and create a plan of action. Thank you
